

Mapable USA Publishes Podcast Explaining the Enormous Potential of Group Homes Real Estate Investments

What are group homes and why do they have the potential to make such great lucrative investments? The latest Mapable USA podcast published by the Reg.A Funding Group explains it all.

Las Vegas, NV, May 1st, 2020 - The Reg.A Funding Group announced today they have published their latest "Mapable USA" crowdfunding podcast regarding Group Homes investments in the Las Vegas region and beyond. The show featured guest Ajay Dayal of the Quantified Investment Group who explained why the "Group Homes" concept has the potential to be one of the most lucrative opportunities in any market – if deals are structured properly.

Similar to a Multifamily investment, group homes are single family homes retrofitted to conform to all the requirements and licensing of mostly elderly tenants. The Group Home concept works for luxury properties all the way to opportunity zones, and the returns on such an investment can be enormous. However, it's not just as simple as purchasing a house and getting into business the next day. The whole process must be done correctly with painstaking attention to detail. The podcast goes into details on how investors can find, finance, manage, and close such deals.

The podcast detailing this information can be found here:

More information can be requested at the link above as well. Said Mapable USA's executive producer, Ronald Costa: "No matter the market, there are always opportunities to be found if you hustle and surround yourself with industry experts that can take you to the next level of successful investing. Many times, investments like group homes may fly under the radar – but having Mr. Dayal on the show certainly showcased their great potential for investors"
